speed
Posted by avanacker - 2006/12/01 13:40

---

Is it normal that Rainlendar version 2.0.1 is much slower than former versions?
On my computer version 2.0.1 reacts very slowly on whatever command it receives. This was not in my older version.
Adhemar

==========

Re:speed
Posted by Barbara92021 - 2006/12/02 01:09

---

Wow, I came to this forum to post about this exact same thing. I can't believe how long it takes to "Dismiss" the alarm, for one thing and of course, when I am doing other things, I don't like it hanging there!!! I want it gone, NOW! Hope we get an answer to this problem really quickly avanacker/Adhemar

==========

Re:speed
Posted by Barbara92021 - 2006/12/02 01:10

---

Forgot to check that I want to know when there are replies to this topic. Saw it right after I clicked submit!! Ooops!

==========

Re:speed
Posted by Rainy - 2006/12/03 07:42

---

Disable Cleartype or get build 29.

==========

Re:speed
Posted by Barbara92021 - 2006/12/03 20:39

---

Rainy wrote:
Disable Cleartype or get build 29.

How do I disable cleartype? I won't get build29 until it is out of beta stage.

==========

Re:speed
Posted by Rainy - 2006/12/04 03:54

---

Control Panel->Display->Appearance->Effect

==========

Re:speed
Posted by avanacker - 2006/12/04 06:37

---

Indeed, I get normal speed by disabling Cleartype.

Thanks
Adhemar

==========

Re:speed

Posted by Barbara92021 - 2006/12/10 13:07

---

I installed the beta build 29, which is something I have never done for any software (installed beta, that is) and I am happy with the new build.

==========