
Localization submission problem

Posted by cg0def - 2006/10/28 19:11

I get the following error when I try to submit a localization file:

Upload failed: The "X-Poedit-Language" is missing or it's empty.

What is this and how do I fix it? The file has no errors in it and it works pretty good with rainlendar2 (granted that the translation is not 100% complete)

Post edited by: cg0def, at: 2006/10/28 19:11

Re:Localization submission problem

Posted by cg0def - 2006/10/28 19:19

this seems to be some bug with the windows version of poedit. Anyway I fixed my file with a text editor and it got accepted. Sorry for the useless post.

Another submission problem

Posted by mbelu - 2006/11/06 10:48

I submitted the translation twice because I had regional characters in my name. Nothing else is changed.

How do I delete the previous one? Or is someone from rainlendar.net going to do this? Or, better yet, all previous translations will be deleted?

:blink:

Best regards

P.S. I think it is better to use an existing topic, that's why I posted here.

Re:Another submission problem

Posted by Rainy - 2006/11/10 12:07

Currently there is no way to delete the previous language files (except directly from the database). I'll do something about this later if it starts to be a problem.
