Remember the Milk - Sync not working anymore

Hi,

out of the sudden, Rainlendar is unable to sync with RTM anymore.

It says the authorization token is missing, altough Rainlendar is listed as a service on the RTM website.

Also, it's impossible to create a new RTM calendar. When I try to do so, several messages appear with Error Code 0 (unkown error).

The RTM service was down for maintenance this night, but the website is working again now. Maybe hey changed something in their API ? My Android RTM app cann access the calendar.

Thanks for posting this, Kunena. I'm having the very same problem since last night. When I refresh Rainlendar I get two error messages: "The service is temporarily unavailable. Server returned result: (0) 0 Unknown error." and "Unable to parse the output."

I also get the same errors when I try to just add a new RTM calendar.

Like Kunena I've checked and Rainlendar is showing up under the "Services" tab in RTM.

Thanks in advance for the prompt response.

At the risk of saying "Me too"...

I even de-authorised Rainlendar from RTM and re-added it - but they still won't talk to each other. Clearly something changed as a result of last nights "Scheduled Maintenance"

OK, it seems to be working now. I just refreshed Rainlendar and it asked me to reauthorize itself with RTM. Now my RTM list showing up. Thanks to whomever fixed this!

I called the OP "Kunena" by mistake. I'm still getting used to the Rainlendar forum. Obviously I meant to say "Loom." Sorry about that.
