Rainlendar Android Version
Posted by Mirek - 2011/06/12 08:49

Hi all, I would suggest a new project: there are a lot of new mobile devices today and there are several apps similar to rainlendar but most of them have some problems or missing functions..I love this program and if there is a possibility to find it also for android OS I will thank you so much..How many possibilities are there to have rainlendar on my mobile? Thanks for your attention to my suggestion.

I'd like one too. I have a problem with using Google for my calendar or docs. They already know enough about me. Why make it easier for them to know what I'm too?

Let me clarify. I would like the calendar to use the .ics standard.

Rainlendar for Android would be marvellous - it is the only calendar I have found that is fully functional and worth having. Thank you

Why there's no a single post from rainlendar developers? At least tell us - yes/no?

Ok, sorry for that sentence above :)

Now I will tell you why I love Rainlendar and why I want it on Android. I have Android phone and thinking about getting a tablet. I use Rainlendar on my home computer and want to have all the tasks and events with me. The standard Calendar app looks ugly and poor, just take a look:

All the days are mixing together, if you just look at the calendar you can't tell what tasks are there.
Now, take a look at Rainlendar:

The thing about Rainlendar is its simplicity and yet it has lots of visual customization.

So, it would be awesome to have the Rainlendar app and Widget on Android.
"Just take my money!" ;)
