Sync with MS calendar.live.com
Posted by Jooken - 2013/09/16 03:05

Hi,

I am sorry if this has been explained somewhere already. I have the Pro version, and I cannot understand how to sync with Microsoft live version of the calendar. I do not have Outlook, or any Windows calendar application in my PC (Windows 7), and I intend not to buy one.

I have used the google calendar so far, but as my wp8 chronos calendar stopped syncing with google, I am searching for an alternative.

Much appreciated,

Jooken.

==========

Re: Sync with MS calendar.live.com
Posted by Rainy - 2013/09/16 10:52

You can subscribe to the Live Calendar's ICS feed if you share the calendar in Microsoft's website. The Network Shared Calendar in Rainlendar should be able to read the feed. Note that you will only gain read-only access this way since the Live Calendar does not allow updating the feed.

At the moment it's not possible to implement a full sync with Live Calendar because the API does not support creation of recurring events.

==========

Re:Sync with MS calendar.live.com
Posted by Jooken - 2013/09/16 15:18

I see, that is disappointing.

One more question, please: would it be possible to sync with Zoho calendar?

Thanks,

Joo Ken :)

==========

Re:Sync with MS calendar.live.com
Posted by Rainy - 2013/09/17 09:46

Currently it's possible to get a read-only feed from Zoho. They have promised to implement CalDAV support in the future so it might be possible to use that with Rainlendar in the future for full sync.

==========

Re:Sync with MS calendar.live.com
Posted by Jooken - 2013/09/17 11:00

Ok, thank you very much. :/
Rainlendar itself functions fine, though. :)

==========