Dates appear repeated in calendar
Posted by ChupacabrasX - 2006/10/30 00:33

In all the October months, one date appears twice. For example, in this month appears the 13th in the calendar twice. In the next year the 12th of october appears twice.

I send a screenshot showing my problem.

Weird. I wonder if that was caused by the DST change. Does the problem appear still?

Yes, it happens in all the October months at the second week. That is the day of the DST change here in Chile.

Ahh, I forget to say that this only happens to me in the Windows version of Rainlendar. In the same computer using Ubuntu the dates don't appear duplicated.

Any ideas how I could reproduce this? I tried changing the timezone and the regional settings but the days are always displayed correctly in my system.

I also have this problem on WXP. I'm also from Chile... maybe this could be related? i haven't done anything apart from installing rainlendar, so i doubt any configuration made by me could be the problem.
On the other side i did install rainlendar 2 over the old rainlendar.
