How do you let me know about threads I subscribe to?? I went to My Profile to search for the entry of my email address and didn't find anything. What did I miss?

I would imagine that the forum sends email to the address that you gave when you registered to the forum. Is that not what happens?

Yes, that is exactly what happens. I didn't realize that you would use that address as in other forums I belong to, the address for emailing me updates, etc. can, and is for some, different than my forum-response address. Thankyou.
