additional option besides snooze and dismiss

A feature I think is usefull, is that when I am remembered about a certain event, I have to choose between snooze (remind me again in default snooze time) or dismiss.

A third option with remind me in ... would be usefull. The ... can be replaced with a dropdown with certain values, like 1 min, 5 min, 10 min, 30 min, 1h, 2h, 1 day etc.

I think it happens that during a day you have multiple tasks to take care about, and when you are reminded of one you cannot proceed to it right away. This would avoid the action of editing the task to postpone it

You can right click on the item in the alarm window and choose a longer time for the snooze.

I guess I should not suggest anymore, but ask if it exists:), seems it already knows them all :)

Is it possible to add additional snooze options? I would like to snooze for more then 2 hours (1/2/5 days, 1/2/5 weeks).

Revival.

How about the ability to snooze all reminders (at once) by a period longer than that off the one the user has set for the snooze button. For example, we could right click the snooz button and snooze all reminders for, say, 30 minutes (when clicking the button would do it for 10, for example)

If you are using one of the build in skins right clicking the snooze button will give you a menu where you can choose the snooze time for all alarms.

I'm using a custom skin, I didn't know skins could affect functionality. I wonder how much new stuff I have been missing edit: oh, so many changes!. We need more stock skins though :/, some are really cool, but the color combinations make them hard to read (Savannah, for example)
