german: Snooze button translation missing

Hi,

in the latest version of the german .r2lang file the translation of the snooze button is missing! When I get remembered for a date, everything is german except for this button.

I opened the language file with poedit; the word "snooze" *is* translated into german! But still, this translation does not appear.

I guess, this is a bug?!

The snooze in the language file is actually a different string (it includes a space) which is the reason it's not used in the alarm. I'll fix this in the next version.
