
Demonstrating Rainlendar to the newbie

Posted by andygrunt - 2006/12/04 19:59

After having used Rainlendar for several days now, I was thinking of recommending it to a couple of people I know who might like it. However, I've hesitated from sending them the link as I realise there's nothing on the website I can point them to that really shows what it does i.e. no screenshots of it in action.

I realise I could point them at the skins section which includes some full screenshots but that might only confuse them (or at least the less computer savvy friend who'd be confused by all the different 'looks').

Anyway, can I suggest adding a few screenshots somewhere in the home page showing the application in action using the default skin and showing several of the ways it can be used e.g. Calendar, long calendar, year calendar etc.

Just a thought... :)

=====