

---

Some questions

Posted by Andre Linoge - 2006/12/05 05:53

---

Good morning,

I like to view in the Eventsmenu, the upcoming events an x-number of days ahead. I was wandering how to set this option. In the previous version it was easy (to find).

I just started using the Yearview, IMHO an tremendes great option, but the weekday colors are an bit pinkish, i like to have `m red, can i change these colors, if so how to do it?

In the Yearview the speed of the "popupview" is rather slow, when viewing several dates. Can i set this to a somewhat faster speed??

Its possible to create multiple calendars. My question is, can i view multiple calenders at once? I mean for example 1 for appointments, 1 for birthdays, 1 for hollydays, side by side and with the same month??

TIA
Andre Linoge

---

Re:Some questions

Posted by Rainy - 2006/12/05 13:04

---

Do you mean this: Options->Advanced->EventListShowComingEvents

You can find some info how to modify the skin from here.

Does the build 29 have the same performance issue also?

Currently it's not possible to show different calendars in different windows.

---

Re:Some questions

Posted by Andre Linoge - 2006/12/06 02:23

---

Rainy wrote:

Do you mean this: Options->Advanced->EventListShowComingEvents

Yes, i knew i had the right option; i belief that option contains a bug. I have used several numbers, like 1, 21, 30, 60, but after saving this option, nothing happens. After checking this option the number of days keeps returning to 7, like it was before.

You can find some info how to modify the skin from here.

Thanks, thats just what i need.

---

Re:Some questions

Posted by Rainy - 2006/12/06 08:57

---

The problem with EventListShowComingEvents has been fixed in build 29.

---