

---

Always on Top and Right Click Menu

Posted by cliocane - 2006/12/05 22:41

---

The right click menu for events, todo items, dates, etc. doesn't work right when rainlendar 2.0 is set for "always on top" - disappears almost as soon as it is called or gets lodged under the window. Solved the problem by changing the setting to "normal" but I prefer to use Rainlendar always on top with a show/hide toggle key.

=====

Re:Always on Top and Right Click Menu

Posted by Rainy - 2006/12/06 08:59

---

I'm unable to reproduce this. Does this happen in Linux or Windows? Are you using some 3rd party applications which might conflict with Rainlendar?

=====

Re:Always on Top and Right Click Menu

Posted by cliocane - 2006/12/07 00:06

---

Windows XP. I use Geoshell as shell and then there's the Yahoo Widget Engine and Google Desktop. Changing the shell back to explorer and closing the other two programs seems to offer some improvement, but it's mostly still pretty buggy. I'll just use the normal setting and minimize.
Btw, the right click menu for the names of days in the events window is stable; the general configuration right click menu is stable too. The unstable menus are the ones with tooltips - i.e. for particular days in the calendar, particular events in the event list, and the todo items. If I turn off tooltips the menus stabilize.

Post edited by: cliocane, at: 2006/12/07 00:15

Post edited by: cliocane, at: 2006/12/07 00:17

Post edited by: cliocane, at: 2006/12/07 00:20

=====