

---

changing the calendar background in Shadow4?

Posted by cliocane - 2010/01/28 16:47

---

I'm interested in modifying Rainy's Shadow4 sidebar so that the calendar portion (like the events and todo lists) has a transparent shadow background. Is there in easy way to do this? So far as I can tell the calendar is assembled from a lot of smaller png files, the background of each of which would have to be changed.

=====

Re: changing the calendar background in Shadow4?

Posted by Rainy - 2010/01/29 10:05

---

Since the calendar has a fixed size you could just create the background as a single image and then use the image element to add it to the skin. Just add it before the other elements so that it is drawn first.

=====

Re: changing the calendar background in Shadow4?

Posted by cliocane - 2010/01/30 23:52

---

Thanks. I'll try that.

=====

Re:changing the calendar background in Shadow4?

Posted by sam49 - 2010/03/13 04:07

---

I would also like to mad this skin but i dont have a clue as to where ti start all i would like to do is place the same background to the calender as to events window and the todo bar, because mt desktop background make the transperant calendar difficult to see. so is there any tutorials that might help me please

Regards to you all

=====

Re:changing the calendar background in Shadow4?

Posted by Rainy - 2010/03/16 12:14

---

The Rainlendar's help includes a skin tutorial which probably is a good place to start.

=====

Re:changing the calendar background in Shadow4?

Posted by sam49 - 2010/03/16 16:57

---

Ok thanks for the advice i have seen that now and i will have a try and see if i can mod the skin, at least i can see how to do it now. Thank you so much.

=====