

---

Times change themselves?

Posted by Kith - 2006/12/08 17:26

---

I downloaded Rainlendar quite recently, and I adore it! It worked perfectly at first, but it's started to have some really bizarre problems, the most prevalent (and annoying) of which is the following.

I just entered an event for today for 5:45. It gave me an alarm that said the event was at 4:30, and when I looked at the event, lo and behold, it had actually changed the start time to 4:30, without me having touched the program since. Anyone have any idea what could have caused this?

Thanks!
-- Kith

---

Re:Times change themselves?

Posted by Rainy - 2006/12/09 05:26

---

It might be an issue with the parser that tries to interpret what you entered as the time. Does this happen also if you just choose the time from the drop down list?

---