
Full Toodledo Sync

Posted by stax0r - 2010/07/05 20:50

Hi Rainy,

Currently you support full remember the milk sync. Are there any plans to provide full ToodleDo Sync also?

Cheers

(Also I searched before posting and was unable to find a similar thread besides being able to access a read only copy of toodledo via the sharing URL)

Their API looks simple enough so adding basic support probably wouldn't require too much work. They do seem to be supporting hierarchical tasks too which isn't possible in Rainlendar. There could be some other features too which cannot be supported but I can think about this.

Oh sweet jesus, please implement this Rain.

My absolute biggest complaint with Rainlendar and the only thing that stops me from making it my GO-TO utility for all tasks is a missing to do list that syncs with something decent online.

I know you have RTM, but I don't like paying SUBSCRIPTION costs month to month for stuff that's available for free. :(

I would love to see a Google tasks combination but IIRC Google Task's API is not public yet.

I'm using rainlendar 2.6 in desktop, and try to use google & tooledo to sync into internet so I can sync them with mobile phone. But now the tooledo can only sync from internet to desktop. and could not sync from desktop to internet. I hope it will be add soon, best wishes.

Hey, has there been any action on this? I'm running 2.8.1 and I can't find anything on it save this thread.

i too just purchased rainlendar pro; what a great app!

i moved from google tasks (no api) and rtm (not free) to toodledo for my to-do list, i'd love to have a toodle do sync feature in rainlendar.

I'm also a Rainlendar Pro user -- was using Remember The Milk to sync Rainlendar with my iPhone but since the free version only let's you sync to iPhone once a day I moved to toodledo. I'm currently using toodledo to display the tasks in Rainlendar, but would love to have full API sync support someday.

So I guess count me as +1 for this feature. :cheer:

I would like Toodledo syncing too.

Actually, you can do it already, but the implementation is messy.

Really? Can you explain the procedure?

I know there is one-way syncing using toodledo's url .ics feature, but can you explain how to make it possible to create/edit todo items on Rainlendar that get synced to toodledo? It might be good to have a stop-gap solution for the time being, even if it is a little messy. :)

Any progress on this? Got fed up with Remember The Milk and switched to Toodledo, but would be VERY nice if a full sync with Rainlendar would be possible!!!!
