
Message about shortly added events

Posted by heinz777 - 2010/07/20 17:59

Hi,

I am using Rainlendar (I love it) together with my friends. All of us have the ability to add new events. Unfortunately there is no function that gives us a message when somebody has add a new event.

Maybe it would be possible, that I get a message that somebody created a new event, because sometimes an event is added in the future (more months in the future) so that you cannot see any changes until some days it occurs.

Would be really great

Thank you

Heinz

Re: Message about shortly added events

Posted by Rainy - 2010/07/22 08:47

Unfortunately that's not really possible (at least not very easily) since Rainlendar doesn't track the individual changes but in most cases it just updates everything from scratch when the network calendar is read.
