I'm not using this, but this seems to get more and more popular:

Maybe Rainlendar could support this too?

Hi,

Since "remember the milk" is no longer free, I am using producteev which is free.

Please add a support to it :)

Thank you.

Hello, Producteev has an API that should provide integration capability similar to Remember the Milk:

Could you please consider including Producteev integration in the near future? I am one of those who has also switched because I find Producteev more user and mobile-friendly.

AFAICT, the non-pro version of "remember the milk" is still free. At least I have no problem using it... :huh:
