Click actions for days

Hi

Is it possible to specify the click action on the days in a month view calendar?

For example I'd like to change the day viewed in a "day" calendar to the day clicked in the "month" calendar. Is this possible?

Is it possible to execute an external program when clicking on events in the "day" calendar?

At least in theory you could create invisible buttons over each the days which would then change the day view. You would have to calculate the clicked day yourself though since the buttons wouldn't automatically know which day they are representing.

Running programs when an event is clicked is not possible.
