

---

What is the skin shown on the Rainlendar home page

Posted by JaredB - 2010/10/17 21:47

---

Hi all: First-time user of Rainlendar. I've tried a few different skins, but I really like the skin shown on the Rainlendar home page on the right hand side (http://rainlendar.net/cms/components/com\_rny\_features/dayview.png). Specifically, I like that calendar events have time blocked out in color (i.e., morning meeting 9am - 10am).

Is this a skin that can be downloaded? Also, even if it is, is this viewing option available on all skins (blocked out event times in the calendar)? Being able to see how much time specific calendar entries take is very helpful to me.

Thanks for any help you can provide.

=====

Re: What is the skin shown on the Rainlendar home page

Posted by Jorge_Luis - 2010/10/18 07:48

---

The "day view" is on the default Shadow4 skin.

Right click on the calendar -> Options -> Skins -> advanced... -> Select "day view" from available skins and move to active skins.

How to add text to DigiClock? See here -->

http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/index.php?option=com\_kunena&Itemid=42&func=view&catid=3&id=13200

=====