hey there folks,

I've copied my rainlendar to my laptop which has a different res screen than my main machine. Now the alert boxes are in the wrong place on my laptop. how to I reset the position of the alert boxes so they are in the centre and not in the wrong place

You can just drag the alert window to any location. If you are using an ini-format skin which closes the window when it is clicked you would have to change the position by editing the rainlendar2.ini file in the data folder or reset all settings from the options dialog.
