

---

Can't make any tasks.

Posted by Quicky - 2010/11/23 02:00

---

Having issues making tasks. My calendar is a Google calendar one that I use to sync my laptop and desktop together, but for whatever reason when I go to make a new Task for my To-Do List, it doesn't give me any calendar options.

I've tried to make a new calendar specifically for tasks (since I only need tasks on my desktop) but I can't make a new calendar without syncing to some outside source (Google, outlook, milk, etc.) so that's pretty useless.

So any ideas as to how to fix this? Is it a Google calendar thing or a 'somehow I broke something' thing?

---

Re: Can't make any tasks.

Posted by Rainy - 2010/11/23 09:36

---

It's a Google calendar thing. Google doesn't have a public API to access the tasks so it's not possible to support them.

---

Re: Can't make any tasks.

Posted by Quicky - 2010/11/23 17:10

---

Anyway around it or do I have to sign up for a different service (like milk)? Which ones are free?

---

Re: Can't make any tasks.

Posted by Rainy - 2010/11/27 03:13

---

For now you need to use some other service for your tasks. Remember The Milk is free if you don't need their pro features.

---