

---

How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Misiiek - 2006/10/31 08:05

---

"To fully localize the application you can download the Shadow4.r2skin-addon (...)"

OK, but what should I do after download? Where should I unzip it? To "Locale" or "Skins" folder? Or maybe I SHOULDN'T unzip???

What should I do with file "language.xml.diff"???

I've tried to copy "polish" files separated from the others, zipped, unzipped, and i can't install my language bitmaps succesfully. R2 still doesn't see them, or even totally crashes when I replace a few files. Can somebody describe the process of installing language bitmaps step by step, like for idiot (file A to folder B, Files C and D to folder E, in file X change text... to... )?

=====

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Rainy - 2006/10/31 14:31

---

No, you shouldn't unzip it. Just double click the file and it should be installed automatically. If that doesn't work, drop it over one of the Rainlendar's windows.

=====

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Misiiek - 2006/10/31 17:59

---

I've done it in both ways several times, and the report was "skin succesfully installed". But after "installation" I still can't change SkinLanguage option in Advanced - it's still only Default or English (after restart - before it, of course, too).

=====

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Rainy - 2006/11/01 12:52

---

Check that the Shadow4.r2skin contains all the languages.

- Rename it to Shadow4.zip
  - Open it and check that the images are there (Events-bg-Finnish.png, Events-bg-German.png, ...).
  - Check also that languages.xml contains the list of languages.
- =====

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Misiiek - 2006/11/01 18:07

---

I've checked. It seems to be ok (but I don't know if there isn't any goofs). It doesn't work anyway.

Does anybody have similar problem with any of other non-english languages?

=====

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Aella - 2006/11/02 17:38

---

I have the same problem, I can not change the interface language into (for me) Dutch. It stays in English. I have done wat you said:

---

Rename it to Shadow4.zip

.Open it and check that the images are there (Events-bg-Finnish.png, Events-bg-German.png, ...). They are not there, only English.

.Check also that languages.xml contains the list of languages. Does not contain the list of languages.

How can I change this, so that the interface also changes the language.

Already thanks.

---

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Aella - 2006/11/02 18:09

---

I have solved my problem by downloading the addon again and I have installed it again and now it works, so I think I have done something wrong before. Thanks anyway.

---

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Rainy - 2006/11/10 13:16

---

Aella: did you install the Shadow4 skin's language pack?

---

Re:How instal

Posted by Pierre - 2006/11/14 05:06

---

Hello,

I have moved to Rainlendar2 a few days ago (Windows + XP).

I have tried to follow your instructions to fully localize the calendar in French, but it does not work.

No, you shouldn't unzip it. Just double click the file and it should be installed automatically. If that doesn't work, drop it over one of the Rainlendar's windows. This was your answer to Misiiek ( October 31) . I have tried to do this several times, without any success.

My problem is similar to Aella's one (posted on Nov. 2), but unfortunately, though I have downloaded several times the add-on, , it still does not work:

- if I drop the downloaded file (shadow4.zip) on a Rainlendar 's window, I get the message « Unknown file Shadow4 » (Translated from French).
- if I double click the file, nothing happens.

When unzipping the downloaded file (shadow4.zip), I find 2 folders:

- "Images" - its content seems to be OK
- "xml" - the only content is a file named "languages.xml.diff"; here are its first records :

4c4,42

```
< <language name="English" />
```

```
---
```

```
> <language name="Albanian" />
```

```
> <language name="Astur" />
```

```
> <language name="Belarus
```

```
.... etc .....
```

---

Seems rather curious , no?

Where is the solution?

=====

Re:How instal

Posted by Rainy - 2006/11/14 15:44

---

The name of the file should be "Shadow4.r2skin-addon". Otherwise Rainlendar doesn't recognize it as an add-on.

=====

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Pierre - 2006/11/15 07:02

---

Thank's Rainy,

I have renamed the downloaded file as requested, have dropped it on a Rainlendar Windows, and it works !!!

=====

Re:How instal \"language\" bitmaps???

Posted by Breton - 2006/11/18 11:00

---

Here is the solution :

<http://www.rainlendar.net/download/Shadow4.r2skin-addon>

=====