Normally I create events/todos with alarm sound, but sometimes I want create one event/todo without it but with alarm popup. Actually this isn't possible, or sound for all or sound for nothing.

That depends where you are storing your events. For native Rainlendar events you can just click the speaker button when you create the event and set a silent audio file as the alarm. A non-existing file probably works too.

Ok, I know but this is a workaround, not a solution. Don't you think?

So, you would like to have a checkbox in the alarm dialog to disable it? I can think about it.
