Double cliccking to edit events

Posted by andygrunt - 2006/12/22 17:18

_____

Here's a very small problem that you may want to fix (but it is pretty minor).

If I double click an entry in the event window, its 'Event' window pops open and I can read or amend it.

If I hover my cursor over an entry in the event window, the 'bubble' appears showing the details of the entry. But if the end of the bubble happens to appear under my cursor, when I double clock to open the event, Windows beeps at me and won't allow it.

All I need to do to get round it is move my cursor off the bubble but it is a (admittedly very small) pain so it would be nice if it was fixed.

By the way, I'm using the default 'Shadow4' skin if that's relevant.

Post edited by: andygrunt, at: 2006/12/22 17:22

==

Re:Double cliccking to edit events

Posted by Rainy - 2006/12/26 06:53

_____

The tooltip window was set disabled because of a bug. Will be fixed in the next build.

==