
Rainlendar does not show events more than 1 day

Posted by silvershadow - 2011/03/20 19:53

Hi!

I've recently started using Rainlendar2.8 and I'm not sure if I found a bug. Here is my finding:

When I create an recurring event in Outlook that starts at 10:30pm and goes into the next day 6:30am, it does not show on the "week view" window shadow 4 skin on Rainlendar. But it does display correctly in Outlook's calendar weekly view.

Any input on this would be great =)

Thanks!

I'm not able to reproduce this. Can you attach an example event which shows the problem? Please save it as Outlook Message Format *.msg and attach here (or sent to the Rainlendar's support email with link to this thread).

I found two related issues: (example)

a) If an event is from 3/1 22:00 to 3/2 06:00, and is set to recurring, the tips of the event will always display the event is from 3/1 22:00 to 3/2 06:00, even on other days.

b) The same event, if set to repeat daily, "Week View" will only highlight the 22:00 to 23:59.

But the event doesn't show up on the week view if set as 11:00pm - 7:00 am as shown below. (TUES & WED & SAT: 12:00-7:00am does not show)

I also found a workaround for the moment which is shown on the image as well (SUN & MON) I make two events one which starts 11:00pm - 11:59pm and another the next day from 12:00am - 7:00am

Thanks for looking into this,

Warm Regards,
Silver

The reason why this happens is that Rainlendar isn't prepared do display the same event twice on the same day. I cannot promise that the issue gets fixed any time soon since it would require a lot of changes to the way the events are handled inside the application. So, you just need to use the workaround for now.
