Day View \"resumed\" display

I would like to set my day view to show only the hours that have planned events. On some days I only have 2 hours filled with events, but still it takes up LOTS of the screen because all hours are displayed.

This is even worse on my netbook, where the day view uses about 60% of the screen size.

I was able to make it smaller by reducing the hour pixel size but there is still a problem:

When I wake up at 7am I don't see the events I have at the end of the day unless I scroll through it or, again, make it bigger and let it take up lots of my screen area.

It will be possible to define the time range for the day view in the next version.

This already helps allot, but even better would be an option to show only times where events are registered. Something like this:

12:00-Lunch

13:00

...

15:00-Meet Ted

16:00

16:00-Visit Bathroom

16:30

...

18:00-Buy Milk

18:15

Always with some "spacing" between hours that do not "touch" to make visualization clearer.
