
Year planning view

Posted by Interart - 2011/05/17 08:18

Hi!

We are about to make an new calendarsystem for our buisness, and we like Rainendar alot, but we are still lookijng for one more option... The "year" plan like this

<http://www.hrdirect.com/images/products/1slj0048.jpg>

Also... Scedual view? Where?

Thangqs in advance!

Johan
Inter Arts Center
Sweden

Re: Year planning view

Posted by Jorge_Luis - 2011/05/17 10:10

The more like to a schedule view is the Day View and the Week View.

You can found these doing: right click on a window -> options -> skins -> advanced>>> -> open the Shadow4 tree on the left side -> select Week View -> click on the Right Arrow. Then click on OK.

Re: Year planning view

Posted by Rainy - 2011/05/20 02:51

Can you describe what the year plan should contain and how it should work?

Re: Year planning view

Posted by Interart - 2011/05/20 03:05

Thanks for your reply :)

Yes, i can try to explain what we want it to cointain and do. It accually exactly the same as an vaccionplanner.

This one shows exactly what i want

http://www.barometern.se/multimedia/archive/01074/Semesterlista_2011_1074481a.pdf

Under "Namn" i want my different calanders listed and then a mark on thoose days there is an appointment for that calendar.

Thanks again!

Also, if there could be a way to print this view as well, that would really be great!

/Johan

Re: Year planning view

Posted by Rainy - 2011/05/20 06:28

The closest you can get probably is with the horizontal line calendar which shows one month as a single line of days. You can then have multiple of such views where each one shows one calendar (you can use the "Included calendars" filter in the window's settings to do that). Unfortunately it's not possible to print the calendar in such format.

=====

Re: Year planning view

Posted by Jorge_Luis - 2011/05/27 16:44

@Interart:

This maybe could not be the best, but take a look at this: <http://jorgeluis-jorgeluis.deviantart.com/art/Simple-Calendar-1-0-210572485>

=====