

---

Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Mirek - 2011/06/12 08:49

---

Hi all, I would suggest a new project: there are a lot of new mobile devices today and there are several apps similar to rainlendar but most of them have some problems or missing functions..I love this program and if there is a possibility to find it also for android OS I will thank you so much..How many possibilities are there to have rainlendar on my mobile? Thanks for your attention to my suggestion.

B)

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by susanmcm - 2011/07/24 10:19

---

I too would love an android version of Rainlendar! :)

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by DynamicFred - 2011/11/28 11:23

---

I'd like one too. I have a problem with using Google for my calendar or docs. They already know enough about me. Why make it easier for them to know what I'm too?

Let me clarify. I would like the calendar to use the .ics standard.

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by susanmcm - 2011/11/28 12:50

---

Rainlendar for Android would be marvellous - it is the only calendar I have found that is fully functional and worth having. Thank you

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Beastcool - 2012/04/23 05:34

---

Why there's no a single post from rainlendar developers? At least tell us - yes/no?

Ok, sorry for that sentence above :)

Now I will tell you why I love Rainlendar and why I want it on Android. I have Android phone and thinking about getting a tablet. I use Rainlendar on my home computer and want to have all the tasks and events with me. The standard Calendar app looks ugly and poor, just take a look:

<http://www.engadget.com/photos/htc-flyer-software/#4135153>

All the days are mixing together, if you just look at the calendar you can't tell what tasks are there.

Now, take a look at Rainlendar:

http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/components/com\_rny\_features/calendar.png

The thing about Rainlendar is its simplicity and yet it has lots of visual customization.

So, it would be awesome to have the Rainlendar app and Widget on Android.

"Just take my money!" ;)

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

---

Posted by salex50 - 2013/10/14 12:10

I kindly request you to advise if there is a progress on the Android verison of Rainlendar, if any. That soft seems to become more and more requested!

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Tan - 2014/02/22 01:17

Any news yet on a Rainlendar for Android app???

I also would love it!
Rainlendar is just great but to have it on my phone would ROCK!! :cheer:

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Tan - 2014/04/10 04:04

Any chance of the Moderator replying to these many requests for an Android ver of Rainlender?
Can you please let us know if this is in the pipeline or never going to happen? :unsure:

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by gustms - 2014/04/10 08:45

I see no reason to have an android version of rainlendar.

Rainlendar is perfect for computers, and should stay like and focus on that.

If you don't like google calendar, outlook.com can sync to your calendar as well, and that's what I use.

Well, my opinion.

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Rainy - 2014/04/10 13:14

Android version of Rainlendar is under consideration but there have not been any decisions made yet. What would be helpful is to know what features people are actually looking for from a mobile calendar. There are couple of hundred different calendar apps in the play store and since people are asking for a one more, what is missing from them?

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by susanmcm - 2014/04/10 15:16

I would love an Android app for Rainlender. I have tried many calender apps and have never been as happy with them as I am with Rainlendar on my Computer. I would love it to works exactly as it does on my computer. At the moment I have to sync the Rainlendar manually with the google calender.
Please can we have a Rainlendar for Android :)

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Tan - 2014/04/10 16:50

---

Thankyou for replying Rainy :)

One feature that I love about Rainlendar that I cant seem to find on other Android Calendar Apps is the category/colour feature, it allows me to see at a glance certain appointments/To Do's that pertain to a particular job or field. As I run 2 business's and also have a job this is a great feature! :cheer:

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Zeo - 2014/04/13 07:40

---

I'd be up for that suggestion too =)

Im using a desktop PC, laptop/tablet PC and a mobile Android Phone.

The strong main point about Rainlendar is : He's easy to sync n' setup

Now im glad because of Rainlendar im using only 1 calendar on multiple device and my news, etc. are always up to date.

I the past, with another folder I always had to copy my files/settings to all my computers it was getting annoying to have half of my calendar on my laptop and my other half part on my desktop computer.

I discovered Rainlendar and im sure you guys can do something great with that.

Even if I already paid the software for computer, I'd be willing to pay an android app. too =)

Friendly, Zeo

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by David_jcd - 2014/05/27 16:45

---

Tan wrote:

Thankyou for replying Rainy :)

One feature that I love about Rainlendar that I cant seem to find on other Android Calendar Apps is the category/colour feature, it allows me to see at a glance certain appointments/To Do's that pertain to a particular job or field. As I run 2 business's and also have a job this is a great feature! :cheer:

Quote. Other applications aren't compatible with rainlendar's categories.

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Tan - 2014/09/24 04:11

---

Its now 3 months later (Sep 2014) and am wondering if a Rainlendar Android App is on the horizon. It WOULD be great ;) Please respond. A few of us are waiting for it to happen.

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Rainy - 2014/09/25 11:56

---

Unfortunately at least at the moment I don't have time to develop the Android version. It might come eventually but it'll take a while.

=====

---

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by tech - 2015/01/08 03:50

---

David_jcd wrote:

Tan wrote:

Thankyou for replying Rainy :)

One feature that I love about Rainlendar that I cant seem to find on other Android Calendar Apps is the category/colour feature, it allows me to see at a glance certain appointments/To Do's that pertain to a particular job or field. As I run 2 business's and also have a job this is a great feature! :cheer:

Quote. Other applications aren't compatible with rainlendar's categories.

+1

I'm a Rainlendar Pro user. I don't see the rainlendar colors and icons on my phone because other apps don't support them. On the other hand, when I add an appointment on my phone, I will have to add the category later from the windows client, which is very inefficient. An android app would be very helpful and I would gladly pay for it.

Rainy, I actually think an app would help make a dent in your finances because people pay a lot more willingly for apps than for desktop software. Imho it would even be profitable to ditch the rainlendar lite/pro distinction, give out the desktop client for free and sell the app for 1.99 €. The increase in user base would probably more than compensate for the decrease in profit per user. Everybody has a mobile client these days, and having a calendar on your desktop device but not mobile defeats the whole purpose. Just my 2 cents.

Anyway, bottom line is I'm rooting for an app.

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by philippe - 2015/01/21 16:02

---

Hi,

am also a fan of Rainlendar for years on my desktop , and i also would love rainlendar for my android device, because as someone said, when i enter new event with my android smartphone, i can't set categories, color to match with Rainlendar .

Please, !!! ready to pay for it !!

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Tan - 2015/01/21 17:13

---

Yep...I agree I would be happy to pay for it. I use Rainlendar everyday and it would be great to have it on my phone especially as a widget on the home screen so I can see my appointments and To Do's at a glance

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by susanmcm - 2015/01/21 17:21

---

I also use Rainlendar everyday and would also be happy to pay for an Android version.

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Stauf99 - 2015/02/27 20:31

---

I love Rainlendar but I'd imagine that it'd be hard to port to android.

I've used Business Calendar for the past year and and can't find anything wrong with their new version Business Calendar 2

I tried to post the link but I wasn't allowed to because I'm a new user :( so just search for Business Calendar 2 in the appstore. I hope my screenshots show up

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by jlgg - 2015/05/11 10:36

---

this would make my life so much easier, Rainlendar is all I use and all I want to use and I would be happy to pay extra for an Android version, it doesn't even need a lot of bells and whistles, it could just sync to my pc version when I plug the phone in, like my old pocketpc's and Blackberry did. Please consider this, thanks

=====

Re:Rainlendar Android Version

Posted by Jg0 - 2015/07/21 02:46

---

Yes, I agree with the previous posts. I love using Rainlendar on desktop, I would like to have it synced on Android, so I don't have to bother with the ugly Google calendar!

=====