
Importing events automatically

I have created a custom calendar using rainlendar Version 0.21.2. I create .ini files for events which i upload online. Is there any option by which it automatically checks if the events have been up to date (giving a specified url), and if a newer file is available, download it and add the events?

With Rainlendar2 Pro you can create a network shared calendar which can automatically poll for changes in the calendar file. You need to use the iCalendar format files though.
