
Add multiple categories to task

Posted by Milu - 2011/08/13 00:04

Before upgrading to 2.9 I could add more than one category to a task, but I've just upgrading and now I can add only one. How can I use the former feature?

I could solve the problem.

Re: Add multiple categories to task

Posted by Rainy - 2011/08/13 02:23

Enable Options->Advanced->Allow multiple categories.

Re: Add multiple categories to task

Posted by RUBn? - 2012/04/28 05:28

Rainy wrote:

Enable Options->Advanced->Allow multiple categories.

Can you make it possible to have the drop down list for category selection available while at the same time using multiple categories? For example by adding the category to the current filled in category if a category in the drop down list is selected?

This would enable to have multiple categories as well as to see which categories are predefined (and the visual representation of them) during setting.

Thanks for considering!

Re: Add multiple categories to task

Posted by Rainy - 2012/04/29 14:13

The drop down control does not support multiple selection so there is no easy way to do it. I would have to create a completely new control for this purpose. I'll add it to my backlog but it's most likely not going to be implemented any time soon.

Re: Add multiple categories to task

Posted by deadcat - 2012/04/30 01:34

You could do a "Workaround" as RUBn? stated. When something is selected in the Dropdown list, add it to the categories. If it's selected again, delete it. This would keep you from creating a new control, but it's not very user friendly.

Re: Add multiple categories to task

Posted by Sven2 - 2012/05/29 11:04

Or just do it like the multiple alarms...

Re: Add multiple categories to task

Posted by membersound - 2012/05/29 11:09

Good point!

I have to admit, I quitted RL some time ago due to the lack of this.

Anyhow I did not find a replacement too. So atm I'm just using my cal on phone and no more on desktop. But looking forward to get back some time ;)

=====