

---

request about google task sync

Posted by strophy - 2011/09/25 14:19

---

please add this simple feature in the next update:

google task list rainleandar category match when sync

so that a user can sort tasks by cateories in todo window

i love this simple rainleandar. i have used it 5 years.

=====

Re: request about google task sync

Posted by Rainy - 2011/09/26 02:12

---

Google has to implement this before the category information can be stored to the tasks (or add proper support for categories).

=====

Re:request about google task sync

Posted by sohbm - 2011/09/30 10:23

---

I am struggling with this issue also. One suggestion would be to create separate tasks lists in Google, and name them the same as categories used in Rainleandar. If then we could sync Rainleandar to multiple task lists in Google, it may preserve the categories created in Rainleandar. So then the question is: currently can we sync rainleandar with multiple task lists in google cal? I tried but could not find a way to sync multiple lists. :(

=====

Re:request about google task sync

Posted by Rainy - 2011/10/03 00:40

---

You can sync multiple task lists if you create a separate Google calendar for each list in Rainleandar. You can also use the visual category setting to define the appearance for the list's tasks.

=====

Re:request about google task sync

Posted by sohbm - 2011/10/04 02:15

---

I did think about this, but it seems like a roundabout way to do this. It would be much simpler if we could just sync multiple task lists. But I will follow your suggestion and create multiple calendars and see how that works out. Thank you :)

=====