
Clear and functional design of skins?

Posted by Rainlendarfan - 2011/12/26 08:08

Hello,

I'm a new user of Rainlendar2 and like it very much. For this price it's a real bargain. I came from Mozilla Lightning which I dislike because of many design flaws and lack of development.

There is only one thing I dislike on Rainlendar2: The skins. Yes, I know, it's always a question of taste. But I really didn't find any really clean and functional skin design. What I like are real functional skin design without any "Schnick-schnack" like the calendar designs of EssentialPIM and Pimero.

Does anybody know a real clear and functional skin for Rainlendar2?

Thanks and all the best,
Karl

Re:Clear and functional design of skins?

Posted by deadcat - 2012/04/17 05:09

Look at the Clear Skin.
<http://customize.org/rainlendar/skins/42647>

Or take a look at the Statistica skin.
<http://customize.org/rainlendar/skins/67859>

I'm currently developing a skin that looks like the Vienna6 Theme for Rainmeter.
If you're interested, I'll make a post when it's done.

Re:Clear and functional design of skins?

Posted by Rainlendarfan - 2012/04/17 07:14

Thanks for your efforts.

But meanwhile I changed from Rainlendar to VueMinder, which has a much better design.
