A question on Todo List

Hi,

I have made a task which I've set up to alarm 1 minute before the due and is to reoccur every 2 days forever. When the first due period arrived, I dismissed the alarm but I noticed that the task was still on my Todo List, is it possible to mark it as completed for this due date but still reoccur 2 days after?

I don't want to keep it showing on my Todo List unless it is an upcoming task due after a few minutes, hours (I would prefer to see only tasks which I have to do on the current date) because it would cause some confusion as to which task I have already done and the ones I have yet to do.

Please advice. Thank you

If you mark the task completed the task list will start to show the next instance of it automatically. If you also define the start time for the task and check the "Hide upcoming tasks" the task won't be shown in the list until the start time has passed.
