Time error in tasks.

When I set a task to start at a particular time on the current day (e.g 5:00 on 11/02/12) the task appears in the TO DO display list straight away. I have hide upcoming tasks checked under skins in the options window, why does the task appear prematurely?

I am using Windows 7 and get this problem on both the 2.9 stable build and on the 2.10 beta build in 32-bit

Welcome to the Forum, loconn.
The "Hide upcoming tasks" function is using the "Day" as a unit.
That is, it will hide the all tasks exclude Today.

Will a more accurate hide/display system be a feature of future versions. I love everything else about rainlender but having things appear in the morning which I don't want to be reminded of until the afternoon can be a bit frustrating.
