

---

Background color for calendars in Rainlendar2?

Posted by bellyman69 - 2012/02/14 00:40

---

I have been using Rainlendar under XP (0.22.1 since 2006) for years and liked the basic "Shadow 3.1" skin - 6 month grid (3 across/2 down/first month is last month).

I have since bot a new machine with Win7 x64 and updated to Rainlendar2. I see "Shadow 4". But I am seeing a rather huge hole and perhaps someone can guide me.

Under the original there was a "skin config" screen - I want the background to be a solid color. I am not seeing any ability to do this. I checked the various folders and cannot see any "raw" editable files in which I can review and change (thinking if the F/E doesn't have it - the core file holding the skin may - ie an "ini").

I fear that settings such as this may be embedded in the skin and cannot be changed and that I may have to weed through all the various Rainlendar skins to find a suitable skin ..... where merely a tweak here and there with Shadow 4 is in order.

Perhaps someone can guide me. I searched the forums for various things and couldn't find anything to help me.

(BTW: I just love both the "Click Through" and "Mouse over - 0% opacity (for clock)" concepts. Maybe there are lots of gadgets out there and yeah Win7 has their own stuff, but after more than 6 years - this and Rainmeter are still is top notch!)

Thanks
belly

=====

Re: Background color for calendars in Rainlendar2?

Posted by Rainy - 2012/02/18 08:18

---

The skin format has changed in Rainlendar2 but the skins can still be edited. There is a skinning tutorial in the Rainlendar's help which tells how the extract the files from the skin archive and how to edit them.

=====