
[WIP] New skin

Posted by liquidbrain - 2012/03/02 20:31

I'm working on a new skin that can get all views in one window (and toggle between views)

My first question is:

In monthview, is possible to do this?

<http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/images/fbfiles/images/example1.jpg>

I want all events same size, if there's only 1 in a day, or if there's 3. It looks so much clear to view the events keeping same size.

Sorry for my english, and hope u can help me with this!

=====

Re: [WIP] New skin

Posted by Rainy - 2012/03/03 04:36

If I remember correctly the event will always fill the whole day area. But I can see if it's possible to add "maxheight" attribute for the month view's events.

=====

Re: [WIP] New skin

Posted by liquidbrain - 2012/03/04 23:22

Thx Rainy! I'll wait for that

=====

Re:[WIP] New skin

Posted by liquidbrain - 2012/03/05 17:08

Another question:

I want to toggle Calendar Window as a popup from a button. It's possible to toggle a windows on top? Cause i can toggle, but it shows on the bottom, so i can't see the Calendar List cause main window is on top (same question for QuickAdd)

=====