
Recently added events don't sync to googlecalendar

Posted by tige - 2012/03/16 05:09

I think it might have started after I updated rainlendar, but the events I've recently added do not show up on google calendar after importing them. Older ones do, both those that have already passed and those that are yet to happen.

Syncing rainlendar between two computers via dropbox works fine, all the events are there, but when syncing google calendars and my android phone using ics importer some events are missing.

=====

Re: Recently added events don't sync to googlecalendar

Posted by Rainy - 2012/03/19 03:03

So, are you using the import functionality in the Google calendar to update the events manually? Can you attach an example ics file which isn't imported correctly into Google calendar?

=====