

---

New skin question

Posted by liquidbrain - 2012/03/30 11:58

---

Hi!

I'm trying to do a new skin using the week / day views. I want to make a window with the month calendar with "month" "day" "month" and "year" buttons, and when those buttons are pressed the calendar switch to that view. The thing is that i wanna make it looks like an app, so i want to see all calendars inside the main window. Is there a way to do this?

Thx! http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/images/fbfiles/images/new\_skin.jpg

=====

Re:New skin question

Posted by Jorge_Luis - 2012/03/30 15:06

---

You can do it with the `show` tag. This is just an example:

... here goes the Day View items

... here goes the Week View items

... here goes the Month View items

... here goes the Year View items

With each button you will need to change the visible element for each group, setting all to 0 except the pressed button (which will be 1). I don't test this, but I think it gonna work.

=====