
chromophore transparency

I prephere the chromophore skin.

Sometimes objects of my desktop are hidden behind this skin. Is there an easy possibility to make the skin a little bit transparent, so that I can see what is underneth of the calendar on the desktop?

Kind regards.

The idea of Chromophore skin is to be completely opaque.

You can change the normal opacity in the general tab, but take notice that this will apply to any window, not only Chromophore.
