

---

Additional Functionality for main calendar

Posted by wii - 2012/08/03 09:22

---

Just as a suggestion. It would be really nice to add the functionality for the calendar to have a box for the days and have the actual events listed inside of the day instead of needing to pull up the events list. So, it will resemble other calendar programs where the events are listed on each day with a setting for different colors for different types of events.

So, (for example) have the Savannah skin to be customized for different appearances such as color and shape (i.e. rounded corners). But add the functionality of the calendar to have the events displayed (listed) inside the day and not have to pull up the events box to see the events. Kind of like to be viewed like the Google calendar, with the events listed inside the day of the event.

---

Re: Additional Functionality for main calendar

Posted by Rainy - 2012/08/03 11:29

---

The month view window shows the events inside the calendar. You can enable it from the advanced skin options.

---

Re: Additional Functionality for main calendar

Posted by wii - 2012/08/03 11:49

---

I just can't seem to get it to work. Is there a place that explains it better, step by step? I even tried to make the calendar 800 X 900 in size just in case it was too small to be shown, with no luck.

---

Re: Additional Functionality for main calendar

Posted by wii - 2012/08/03 11:54

---

oh, I figured it out. Thanks. Now is there a tutorial on how to make one of these, so it has a different look to it? I opened the file, but it really does not make any sense to me. I can't tell what line to change for colors, transparencies, images, rounded corners, etc.

---

Re: Additional Functionality for main calendar

Posted by Jorge_Luis - 2012/08/03 11:56

---

The "Skin Format" section of the Rainlendar's help has most of the info to edit/create a skin.

---