You have to be more specific than that. I just tried the snooze with a local event and as far as I can see everything was working just fine.

sorry, I'll be more specific. It seems to remove the alert entirely and does not pop up again. If it's working correctly for you, is there some place as to where I can set it up correctly? I got the snooze times set, but they don't seem to make any difference.

The Options->Advanced->"Default snooze time" is the duration how long the alarm will be snoozed so you should check that it has some sane value (the default is 60 seconds).
