
Can't sync Google Calendar if include tasklist

Posted by Phin - 2012/08/15 12:35

I'm not sure why but if I leave the task list name as , I can sync the calendar from my Google account just fine. But if I select the task list(named PhinRinn's list on my account) from the list it provides and try it, I get a popup when Rainlendar syncs with Google:

```
Google Error (Phin)!
Unable to download calendars.
Server returned result: (0) 503 Service Unavailable.
Backend Error
---

I've even deleted every task in the list just in case one was botching the whole thing up and still no dice.

I suppose I could use Google to sync my calendar only but leave my tasks on the PC under the Default (local copy) calendar but I won't be able to sync it with my android device (which seems to pick up the Google Tasklist just fine.

Any ideas? I've tried using the latest official 32bit build as well as the 2.11 BETA build 122 and its the same deal in each one.

Can you run Rainlendar in the debug mode and send the debug log to me (you can use the Rainlendar's support address)? Attach a link to this thread too so I know what the log is for.
