Can't add new Skin addon.

Love Rainlendar! Just what I was looking for. Downloaded the Shadow4-Widgets.r2skin. Had to rename it to drop the ".zip" extension. Dragged it to the Calendar window, and I get an error msg: "Unable to install the skin! The skin doesn't contain the 'skin.xml' file.". How do I install this widgets file?

I am using Rainlendar Pro v. 2.10 (unregistered) on a windows xp laptop.

Welcome to the forum, iamoraal.

Shadow4-Widgets file is a Shadow4's addon, instead of a skin, it's extension name must be ".r2skin-addon", so it's full-name should be "Shadow4-Widgets.r2skin-addon"

Please try again !!

Did that. Got err mmsg "The skin Shadow4-Widgets not found" or something to that effect. Had to change the name to "Shadow4.r2skin-addon" which was successful. But I don't see the add-ons.

Tried to add the GWeather add-on but got the msg: The skin GWeather doesn't exist. Unable to merge the addon. Where can I find the skin for this?

NM. I got it working. Don't understand what happened, but I'm a happy little camper now.

Have same problem here and it doesn't want to go itself :c

Maybe there is a way to install Skin with Widgets together? or install some parts manually?

system: Ubuntu 12.10

You downloaded the addon and it had incorrect file extension? I thought that only happens with Internet Explorer. So, what exactly happens when you try to install the widget addon?

Are you using the latest version of the addon? The file should not be renamed before it is installed.

Can you run Rainlendar in the debug mode when you try to install the addon and send the debug log to me (use the support email address and include a link to this forum thread).
