I need a script to count events in a category for the current year

Can it be done?

I think it could be.

You can list all the events for each day of the year. Then check if the category is the one you want, and then add the ID to a list. If the ID is already there you can count it twice or more, or simply discard (I don't know what you want). I'm sure this isn't the only way.
