

---

Problem on Ubuntu Edgy

Posted by arjun - 2007/01/15 09:38

---

Hey there,

I have been using Rainlendar for ages now on Windows, but have just made the switch to Ubuntu (6.10) and was thrilled to find that there was a version for Linux. Awesome stuff!

Anyway, now to the problem at hand. I downloaded it and it runs fine. There's some strange things to do with the refreshing, but I'm guessing that if I increase the copy refresh sleep time in the advanced options it should be ok. The problem is that when I click on the Advanced options button, nothing happens! In fact after clicking on it, no other buttons except cancel, ok and help work. I don't know if this is in any way helpful, but a small grey box appears in the top-right corner of the options window when I click on the advanced button.

It's a small problem, but I really hope someone here can help me. Rainlendar is the only really good calendar program I have used! :)

Thanks a lot!

Arjun

=====

Re:Problem on Ubuntu Edgy

Posted by Rainy - 2007/01/18 14:31

---

I have no idea what could cause this. I haven't noticed such behavior myself. Does the Rainlendar's log show anything?

=====