
Linux/Do you want to start another instance?

Posted by HaMi - 2012/11/15 02:37

My Rainlendar startup automatically on desktop.

I use Ubuntu, Xubuntu and Mint, but only in Xubuntu that question popup every time, even I remove tmp-file. Is there solution to remove that question?

<http://i.imgur.com/6NVIW.png>

Re: Linux/Do you want to start another instance?

Posted by Rainy - 2012/11/17 08:57

If you are sure there are no other instances running you can start Rainlendar with the "--multiple" command line argument to disable the check.

Re:Linux/Do you want to start another instance?

Posted by HaMi - 2012/11/17 12:06

Rainy.

My english is bad, and I dont understand where I should put this preference:

with the "--multiple" command line argument

Or can you explain in other words, or even in finnish?

Re:Linux/Do you want to start another instance?

Posted by Rainy - 2012/11/25 02:59

If you start Rainlendar from the terminal you can also give the command line argument to the application. Like this:

```
rainlendar2 --multiple
```

You should also be able to give the command line arguments in the Linux settings dialog where you defined that Rainlendar starts automatically in startup.
