

---

easier way to set multiple months on the desktop

Posted by masu - 2006/10/31 18:45

---

easier way to set multiple months on the desktop

=====

Re:easier way to set multiple months on the desktop

Posted by Rainy - 2006/11/01 13:20

---

If you have any suggestions please let me know.

The problem is the from Rainlendar's point of view the windows are all the same. It doesn't know which one of them is the calendar or if there is such window at all. So the only possibility I can think of would be to add some kind of tiling option to the skin window settings but that probably wouldn't be any easier to use than the current method.

=====

Re:easier way to set multiple months on the deskto

Posted by svoy - 2006/11/04 07:16

---

Rainy wrote:

If you have any suggestions please let me know.

The problem is the from Rainlendar's point of view the windows are all the same. It doesn't know which one of them is the calendar or if there is such window at all. So the only possibility I can think of would be to add some kind of tiling option to the skin window settings but that probably wouldn't be any easier to use than the current method.

I'm really appreciate all things you do. But multiple months in old version was much more easier to create. For example just two months positioned vertically.

See attached image. If you define 2 windows then they are not together so to move you have to move separate. If you put long calendar than the problem is you don't see name of next month.

Thnax a lot again for nice idea and implementation. Sadly i removed rainlendar2 and took again the old version 0.22 with simplest way to configure everything may be with less functions.

Greets from Switzerland! http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/components/com\_joomlaboard/uploaded/images/pix.jpg

PS: It was difficult to add German language to my calendar. Not to application it is OK English in app, but I wanted German Months days and so on.

Post edited by: svoy, at: 2006/11/04 07:20

=====

Re:easier way to set multiple months on the deskto

Posted by Skaven252 - 2006/11/05 13:25

---

svoy wrote:If you define 2 windows then they are not together so to move you have to move separate.

Do you need to move the calendars often? At least for me this is not a problem at all, especially since the windows snap nicely, which makes it easy to keep them aligned.

=====

Re:easier way to set multiple months on the deskto

Posted by svoy - 2006/11/06 11:32

---

Moving it is a just one problem... If you read my post again you will see what i mean!

Post edited by: svoy, at: 2006/11/06 11:33

---

=====

Re:easier way to set multiple months on the deskto

Posted by Eli - 2006/11/08 13:14

---

There is an easier way. I created dual and triple calendars. Check here:

http://www.rainlendar.net/cms/index.php?option=com\_joomlaboard&Itemid=27&func=view&id=346&catid=2

=====