
Solved: Cannot lock Rainlendar position

Posted by my_eyes_shoot_lasers - 2013/01/10 12:13

Hi everyone,

I can't get Rainlendar to lock to the side of my desktop. Every time I do something new in Rainlendar, like add an event or change a setting, the whole thing just moves back to the centre of my desktop. I keep moving it to the side of my desktop, but even the action of saving the "lock to screen" option causes it to move back to the middle.

I'm running Rainlendar2 lite 64 on Ubuntu 12.04. Anyone have any ideas?

Thanks in advance! I love Rainlendar so far but it's kind of wacky that it's always in the middle of my desktop.

EDIT: Woops, as soon as I posted I found the solution. To anyone else having this problem, moving the windows with the Ubuntu alt+grab seems natural and works regardless of lock - but the program doesn't seem to be able to save this movement. Unlock, move by clicking and dragging, and then lock. Awesome!

=====