

---

No alarms when adding a task from command line

Posted by evll - 2013/01/14 10:09

---

I am very happy with Rainlendar, it is so flexible and convenient.

However, there is one issues, that bugs me a lot. I have default alarms for my calendar set to -60. When I add a new task for today via right clicking and set its due time to 00:00, I receive an alarm immediately after creation. But if I create a task with such command: rainlendar2 -a "task Task1 at 00:00", alarm is not triggered. Is this a bug or am I missing something?

=====

Re:No alarms when adding a task from command line

Posted by evll - 2013/01/14 23:53

---

Solved this issue by using a QuickAdd template

=====