
Current Date - New Event

When I select to create a New Even, shouldn't the Start Time and End Time display the CURRENT date as the default date? On my system the date will vary.

It would be nice if the current date is automatically selected for a new event.

My system clock is correctly set.

I could agree this should be the behavior when double clicking on events. But I normally double click the day the event is when I want to add it.

Thanks. That method works.
